March 31 – National Indigenous	Newspaper ad with translations and explaining what the day is, liked the last sept 30 ad, section from the calls to action
Languages Day	Suggested content:
	March 31 is an opportunity for Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples to honour Turtle Island's extensive linguistic legacy. A number of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada: Calls to Action speak to protecting Indigenous language rights, including Action 13: We call upon the federal government to acknowledge that Aboriginal rights include Aboriginal language rights.
	Ojibway is an Algonquin language used by the Anishnabek. Here are some translations used by the Municipality's Indigenous Advisory Circle:
	Debwewin = Truth Manaaji'idiwin = Respect
